ARTOURS

During an ARTour, students are led on a structured tour of TAM's exhibit with an emphasis on key concepts from the featured art. After the tour, students assemble in TAM's classroom for a hands-on art lesson related to the tour discussion. The lesson further extends understanding of exhibited material. Lessons are aligned with grade-relevant art standards and corresponding standards in math, science, language arts or social studies.

ART Idaho LESSON

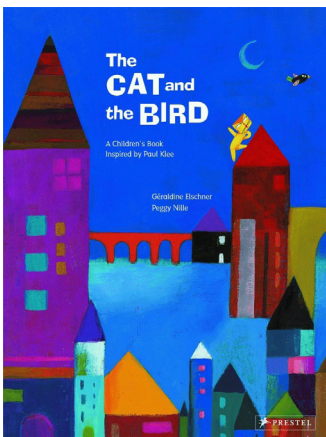

Drawing inspiration from the diverse work of Idaho artists showcased in the ART Idaho exhibit, students will use perspective to create a unique work of art with watercolor and pastel.

Curriculum Connections: Social Studies, Math & Science

Art Collective LESSON

Painter Ed Mell's work tells the story of the West. Drawing inspiration from Mell's unique style, students will use fun and unusual painting techniques to tell their own story of the West.

Curriculum Connections: Language Arts, History

Young at Art LESSON

The book The Cat and the Bird will help students learn about famous artist Paul Klee who created artwork inspired by dreams and imagination.

This project will help students gain cultural awareness of a great artist while using contrasting warm and cool colors to create their own painting inspired by the work of Klee

Curriculum Connections: Language Arts
